Instructions for the DSS-6902, Child Well Being Screening Tool

The screening may be used with minor children through the age of 17. For children under the age of three, any time a parent/caretaker expresses concern about how a child is developing, contact your local Children's Developmental Services Agency (CDSA) to make a referral. If the parent/caretaker or agency needs assistance with the referral process, please contact the early intervention program state office at 919-707-5520 or your local CDSA (http://www.ncei.org).

This screening should be offered to all families but is not a program requirement for a parent/caretaker complete the screening. The parent/caretaker may opt to complete the screening for a single child or for multiple children within the same household. Each child requires the completion of a separate screening tool.

The screening may be administered by the Work First case worker or the parent/caretaker may complete Sections A – D on their own. After Sections A- D are completed, the Work First case worker and the parent/caretaker will discuss both the child's strengths and identify any needs/challenges.

The case worker will document the discussion in the identified Screening Summary areas on the back of the form. The parent/caretaker and the worker should discuss the agencies and/or community resources available in the respective community and make the appropriate referrals. The case worker and the parent/caretaker will decide on the frequency of follow up meetings to determine the effectiveness of the referral(s) and to monitor the referral outcomes. It is suggested that these meeting occur on no less than quarterly.

When introducing the screening tool, please read or paraphrase the following statement:

Physical health and mental health can affect a family's ability to thrive both emotionally and financially. When children receive the necessary supports to be successful, it not only improves the child's outcomes but also the outcomes for the family. Parents/caretakers that feel the emotional, physical, intellectual and social needs of their children are being met many times experience less family strain on relationships and are more successful at work.

The Child Well Being Screening is an informal tool designed to assist you in identifying your child's strengths but also the areas that may impact your child's well-being and development. After completing the screening, we talk about some resources and services that may help with any unaddressed needs.
